SpeedNet Brings Wireless High-Speed Internet Service to Hampton Township
Sets Customers Free From Confines of Traditional Internet Access
Reliable High-Speed Internet Provider Continues Area Expansion

Essexville, MI. (August 31, 2006) – SpeedNet officially launched its high-speed wireless Internet service in Hampton Township today. The innovative company first provided high-speed wireless service in Bay County in 2004 when it launched in downtown Bay City. SpeedNet also offers high speed Internet access service in Saginaw, Midland, Mount Pleasant, Pinconning, and Standish.

The Hampton Township and Essexville area now has a better choice for home or business high-speed Internet service that's simple to use, portable, affordable and suited for use at home or on the go," said Bruce Moore, SpeedNet's vice president and general manager for the State of Michigan. "SpeedNet breaks down the barriers of traditional broadband service, offering consumers high-speed Internet access without wires," he added.

SpeedNet offers a Wi-Max solution, utilizing next-generation, non-line-of-site wireless technology. The company sends a signal from an antenna location, in Hampton Township located on the water tower near Knight & Hampton roads, to a specially developed receiver modem that plugs into the customers computer instead of connecting to traditional coaxial or telephone wires. Customers simply plug the modem into an electrical outlet and into their computer to create the high speed access connection.

"SpeedNet is the "next generation" broadband-wireless high speed service delivered to the consumer in a manner that is easier to purchase, set up and use than other options currently offered," said Moore.

Anyone can purchase SpeedNet service at select retail locations, take it home, set it up, and be online in minutes. It features plug-and-play installation – no need to wait for a technician to complete the installation. In addition, customers can move the service from place-to-place inside SpeedNet's coverage area.

SpeedNet service is available to purchase at its Essexville authorized representative InTouch Internet & Wireless located at 3200 Center Avenue, Suite B Essexville MI, by calling SpeedNet's local office number at 790-0549, or toll free at 866-297-2900.

"We're excited providing the area residents and small business owners reliable, wireless high-speed Internet access with flexibility they've never had before when only having cable or telephone line services," said, Moore. "SpeedNet eliminates the limitations of traditional broadband services, offering a more consumer-friendly Internet service."
